Gov't is working on preventive economic measures, Al-Ississ says

Finance Minister Mohamad Al-Ississ on Sunday said that the government is working on taking preventive economic measures to address the repercussions of the coronavirus, highlighting the need for scaling up private-public sector efforts in response to the economic challenges. Al-Ississ' remarks came during a meeting with Chairman of the Jordan Chamber of Commerce (JCC) Nael Kabariti and Head of the Jordan and Amman Chambers of Industry Fathi Jaghbir and other stakeholders, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported.

Oil rebounds, but still heads for biggest weekly loss in years

Oil prices swung more than six per cent on Friday, but were still on track for their biggest weekly loss in more than a decade. In another day of volatile trading, both main contracts initially dipped more than two per cent, tracking heavy falls across global markets that have suffered some of their biggest losses in years. But the commodity abruptly changed course in Asian afternoon trade, with West Texas Intermediate rising four per cent to $33 a barrel and Brent crude up 3.9 per cent at $34.50. The much-needed rally came after the US military launched air strikes in crude-rich Iraq and stocks rebounded, with Asian bourses pulling back from early lows and European equities surging at the open. Nevertheless, prices of US benchmark WTI were still down more than 20 per cent and on course for their biggest weekly drop since the global financial crisis of 2008.

King, upon return to Jordan, chairs meeting on COVID-19 developments

His Majesty King Abdullah, on Sunday upon returning to Jordan, chaired a meeting on developments related to coronavirus disease (COVID-19), and stressed the need to maintain preparedness and transparency with the public to boost confidence in the measures taken. During the meeting — held at the National Centre for Security and Crisis Management and attended by Their Royal Highnesses Prince Feisal, adviser to His Majesty and chairperson of the National Policies Council, and Prince Ali, chairperson of the NCSCM — King Abdullah called for continuing cooperation and coordination among all institutions to deal with the latest developments related to COVID-19, according to a Royal Court statement.
