SDC restructuring will not affect shareholders' rights

The restructuring of the Securities Depository Centre (SDC) will not affect the rights of shareholders of listed firms in Amman Stock Exchange, according to the Jordan Securities Commission (JSC). The government decision relating to the SDC will not affect the rights, ownership and investments of the investors, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported, citing a JSC statement. The JSC stressed that the government decision, part of an ongoing reform and stimulus programme, is aimed at the restructuring of the SDC, an independent government unit, while ensuring the continuation of its functions, according to Petra. The restructuring will be carried out based on the recommendations of a specialised committee to be formed for this purpose. It will pursue this effort in accordance with international practices and standards, Petra added.

New gov't measures in automobile sector will primarily benefit citizens'

The government on Monday approved a set of measures aligned with suggestions proposed by the Jordan Free Zones Investment Commission (FZIC), which included eliminating the weight tax on vehicles, lowering taxes on electric cars and returning consumption rates to their previous state. FZIC President Mohammad Bostanji told The Jordan Times over the phone on Monday that consumption rates were reduced to the original figures of 2016, and included all types of cars.

Annual olive festival to bring Kingdom's crops to capital

The 20th National Olive Festival, which will feature olive products alongside traditional rural goods from the Kingdom's governorates, is set to kick off at King Hussein Park in Amman on November 27 and conclude on November 30. The festival, which is organised annually by the Ministry of Agriculture, provides an agricultural exhibition that "helps introduce the produce of Jordanian families and market it directly to citizens", according to a ministry statement.
