King participates in 4th workshop on economic growth

His Majesty King Abdullah participated in part of the fourth economic workshop held at Al Husseinia Palace on Monday, which comes within a series of extensive sessions that began last week to formulate a clear economic programme. The King emphasised the important role of the private sector and the media in defining future stimulus packages to reflect positively on the living standards of citizens, according to a Royal Court statement. In addition to the stimulus package announced on Sunday, several other packages will be released throughout next year, requiring partnership between the government and the private sector, the statement said.

Jordan has 'made excellent progress' on reform path — WB Mashreq director

Jordan has made "very good" progress on reforms required under a $1.45 billion financing package and is expected to receive the second tranche of the loan, amounting to $725 million, in November, said Saroj Kumar Jha, World Bank regional director for the Mashreq. Some reforms have already been completed and 50 per cent of the total volume has already been disbursed under the programme, which the World Bank approved in June with a view to stimulate inclusive growth and create jobs. The other 50 per cent will be disbursed when the remaining reforms are completed by the Jordanian government, he said in an exclusive interview with The Jordan Times on the sidelines of the World Bank's annual meetings.

Gov't measures to stimulate real estate sector 'good, but short-term' — stakeholders

The government's recent decisions to stimulate the real estate and housing sector are "good but too short to leave a lasting impact, as they are only effective for the period of two months", according to stakeholders. Former President of the Jordan Housing Developers Association (JHDA) Zuhair Omari told The Jordan Times over the phone that the real estate sector is "a long-term investment and the decisions should last longer to truly bring change, so it can revive itself from its long recession". The government on Sunday announced a number of decisions to grant the sector its long-sought demands, the first of which is to reduce registration fees and ownership transfers of apartments and land by 50 per cent until the end of 2019.
