King invited for Beirut economic summit in January

His Majesty King Abdullah on Tuesday received Lebanese Foreign Minister and Presidential Envoy Gebran Bassil, who handed the King an invitation from President Michel Aoun to attend the Arab Economic and Social Development Summit, slated to be held in Beirut in January. During a meeting at Al Husseiniya Palace, King Abdullah and Bassil underlined “the brotherly relations” between the two countries, and emphasised the need to further sustain coordination and consultation on various issues of joint interest, according to a Royal Court statement. The discussions focused on the importance of joining efforts and stances in light of regional challenges, especially those associated with the Palestinian issue and reviving peace talks between the Palestinians and Israelis, on the basis of the two-state solution that leads to the establishment of a sovereign Palestinian state within the pre-1967 borders and with East Jerusalem as its capital.

Committed foreign aid stands at $1.09b on Sept. 30

The total foreign assistance committed to Jordan as of September 30 reached $1.09 billion, a statement by Ministry of Planning and International Cooperation said. The aid includes regular grants, concessional loans, support from regional projects and additional grants to support the three pillars of the Jordan Response Plan (JRP) (resilience, refugee and budget support), according to the ministry. Total assistance committed under the JRP and excluding refugee support of $165.3 million reached about 930 million. The statement added that support for JRP reached around 16.7 per cent of total funding requirements. The JRP received $419.89 out of total funding requirements, estimated at $2.517 billion for the year 2018.
