Fakhoury urges more global collaboration to meet need for investments in infrastructure

Investment in infrastructure is essential to support economic activities, generate jobs and achieve economic growth and competitiveness, which is in line with the 2030 Agenda of Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), Minister of Planning and International Cooperation Imad Fakhoury said Tuesday. The World Economic Forum estimates a global need for $3.7 trillion in infrastructure investment each year. Approximately, 60 per cent of that sum will come from the emerging market and developing economies. However, only $2.7 trillion is currently being invested in infrastructure, leaving a gap of around $1 trillion, said the minister. "Meeting the increased demand for infrastructure poses a significant financing challenge for governments, given the constraints on existing sources of finance and the available resources and also taking into consideration other pressing needs," said the minister during a session titled "Mobilising Infrastructure Investment in a Fractured Context". The session was part of the preparatory meetings for the European Bank for Reconstruction and Development's (EBRD) 27th annual meeting and business forum that will start from 9-10 of May.

QAIA closes Q1 with over 1.8 million passengers

According to figures released by Airport International Group, Queen Alia International Airport (QAIA) welcomed 1,814,157 passengers during Q1 of 2018, at an increase of 8.5 per cent in year-to-date passenger numbers as compared to the same period last year. QAIA also witnessed 16,609 aircraft movements and handled 24,690 tonnes of cargo throughout the first quarter, marking a 1.8 per cent decrease and 8.8 per cent increase, respectively. In March 2018, the airport registered a total of 646,579 passengers, which indicates a substantial 13.3 per cent rise from March 2017 and the third monthly passenger record to be broken, according to a statement of the Airport International Group.

Jordan's foreign minister sees arms race if Iran nuclear deal ends

Jordanian Foreign Minister Ayman al-Safadi on Tuesday warned of "dangerous repercussions" and a possible arms race in the Middle East unless a political solution was found to free the region of nuclear weapons and other weapons of mass destruction. Al-Safadi spoke in Germany before an expected announcement by U.S. President Donald Trump on whether he will pull out of the Iran nuclear deal or work with European allies who say it has successfully halted Iran's nuclear ambitions.
