The government on Friday outlined all the agreements and memoranda of understanding it signed at the London initiative, co-organised with the British government. Minister of Planning and International Cooperation Mary Kawar said that the government and the European Investment Bank (EIB) had signed a loan agreement worth 65 million euros to finance the improvement of water supply systems in the Deir Alla and Al Karamah districts of the Jordan Valley, as well as the construction of a centralised sewage collection and treatment system in Deir Alla. She added that the EIB's support is part of the bank's Economic Resilience Initiative, designed to strengthen the EU's neighbouring countries' ability to withstand shocks, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported.
