Jordan delegates scout African export market

A Jordanian economic delegation on Saturday began a tour to a number of African countries to explore the available opportunities for Jordanian exports to those countries, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported. The tour also aims to promote the investment and trade opportunities available in the Kingdom. The visit, which was organised by the Jordan Investment Commission and Jordan Chamber of Industry, will include Tanzania, Kenya, and Ethiopia, where the delegation is scheduled to attend business forums and hold meetings with officials and organise meetings for Jordanian companies to sign memoranda of understanding with the private sector leaders in these countries, according to Petra. Emerging African markets have become a target for Jordanian exporters after regional turbulence has led to the closure of vital markets in the neighbourhood.

UAE funds $220m renewable energy project

UAE will fund a renewable energy project worth $220 million, UAE ambassador to Jordan Matar Shamsi announced, adding that the construction will begin "soon". Quoted by the Jordan News Agency, Petra, on Saturday, Shamsi added that under the direction of its leadership, the UAE supports Jordan, and is returning favours the Kingdom has done for the Emirates before and after the latter's establishment. He cited Marsa Zayed and Saraya projects in Aqaba that are being implemented by an Emirati company, with an investment amounting to more than $12 billion and securing thousands of jobs for Jordanians. As the UAE, a federation of seven emirates that emerged in 1971, marks its 46th national day, Shamsi told Petra that Jordan was the first country to recognise and establish diplomatic ties with the Emirati union, remarking that diplomatic representation at the level of ambassador was in place one day after the union was declared.

Two water projects inaugurated at Naur and Wadi Al Seer

Water Minister Hazem El Naser on Saturday laid the cornerstone for Naur and Wadi Al Seer water purification station and the sewage networks projects. The two schemes were co-funded by the Export-Import Bank of Korea and a grant from the US government, at a total cost of $76 million, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported. During the ceremony, El Naser listened to a briefing about the Iraq Al Amir's tourist project, presented by Mohammad Abbadi, director of the project and Planning Unit at the Greater Amman Municipality (GAM). Abbadi stressed the importance of cooperation between the ministry and the GAM.
