Macroeconomic & Corporate News

Kuwait lifts ban on Jordanian produce

Kuwait on Tuesday lifted its ban on some of Jordan's fruits and vegetables, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported. The ban was imposed three months ago after claims that produce contained chemical pesticide residues. According to the Kuwaiti statement, products have to be accompanied with certificates of safety issued by accredited agencies. The Agriculture Ministry called on exporters to commit to the standards of safety and requirements of importing countries.

'Agricultural exports to Iraq to start early next week'

Agriculture Minister Khaled Hneifat has announced the start of the exports of agricultural products to the Iraqi market early next week, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported on Tuesday. He said that "all procedures between the two countries will be held on the border" and the Jordanian agricultural products are ready for export. In previous remarks, Prime Minister Hani Mulki said that the process would first be limited to unloading goods at the Turaibil border crossing until security is ensured for Jordanian trucks to enter Iraq.

Asteco appointed exclusive sales agent for luxury villa development in Jordan

Asteco's Jordan franchise selected to sell 175 villas in exclusive gated community, Andalucía, developed by Jordan Kuwait Bank; Asteco to reinvigorate stalled sales as exclusive agent for the mixed-use development. Asteco Jordan, a franchise of the UAE's largest real estate firm, has been appointed as exclusive sales agent for the 175-villa Jordanian development Andalucía, near the country's capital, Amman. Located on the Airport Road, just 20km from Amman, and developed by Jordan Kuwait Bank, Andalucía (named after the Muslim Kingdom of Andalusia in Spain), is the first gated community to be launched in Jordan and consists of a range of villa configurations including spacious 3, 4, 5 and 6-bedrooms units. Prices start from JOD 275,000.
