2018 AmCham MENA Council conference on innovation, growth launched in Amman

Deputising for HRH Crown Prince Hussein, HRH Princess Sumaya on Saturday launched the 2018 American Chamber of Commerce (AmCham) MENA Council Annual Conference, held by the AmCham in Jordan under the theme “Commercialisation of Innovation: A Driver for Growth in the MENA Region”. Launched with the support of the USAID under the patronage of Crown Prince Hussein, the conference provides an opportunity for businesses to share experiences and develop strategies that will build modern and sustainable economies, according to organisers. “Real innovation lies in the ability to enhance the way of living of individuals and the community,” the princess said during her keynote speech at the inauguration of the conference, stressing the need to “ensure the importance of science and technology as the two key elements for growth”.

First Ryanair flight from Budapest touches down at Queen Alia airport

A low-cost Ryanair plane flying from Budapest landed at Queen Alia International Airport on Sunday, the first of 14 airlines which will operate flights between Europe and Jordan, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported. Tourism Minister Lina Annab called it “another step” towards providing low-cost flights from and to Jordan. Director General of Jordan Tourism Board Abed Al Razzaq Arabiyat said that the low-cost flights will encourage foreign tourists to visit Jordan. On February 5, Ryanair announced that the first route would operate from Paphos (Cyprus) to Amman starting in March, followed by 9 new routes to the capital and four others to Aqaba’s King Hussein International Airport beginning in the winter of 2018.

Arab Bank Group profits grow by 7% for nine month 2018
