Macroeconomic & Corporate News

Jordan, Sudan sign 10 deals as joint committee meets in Khartoum

Jordan and Sudan on Thursday signed 10 deals to boost their cooperation as a joint panel met in Khartoum. Co-chaired by Prime Minister Hani Mulki and Sudanese First Vice President and Prime Minister General Bakri Hassan Saleh, the Jordan-Sudan Higher Joint Committee concluded its seventh session meetings with signing agreements, protocols, executive programmes and memoranda of understanding (MoU) covering the various aspects of cooperation between the two countries. The deals included an agreement to activate a joint business council comprising representatives of a Sudanese employers union and Jordan's Businessmen Association and the chambers of industry and commerce. They also finalised an executive programme governing cooperation in the field of social development for 2017-2020 and another in the field of vocational training for the same period. Other similar deals govern cooperation in the fields of youth development, electricity, renewable energy and energy efficiency, education and culture. An MoU was signed between industrial estates authorities in both countries, while two similar deals cover inter-governmental cooperation in the fields of strategic planning and mineral resources.

Jordan urges reopening of Iraq border, expediting pipeline project

Foreign Minister Ayman Safadi on Thursday urged Iraq to expedite efforts to reopen Amman-Baghdad road and implement the planned Iraqi oil pipeline. He also called for supporting the private sectors in the two countries to further develop trade relations and serve mutual interests. At a meeting with Iraqi Prime Minister Haider Abadi, he congratulated him for liberating Mosul and the victory against terrorism, the Jordan News Agency, Petra, reported. For his part, Abadi stressed his country's keenness on developing cooperation in various fields, stressing Baghdad's determination to reopen the highway and the Tureibil border crossing. Abadi said his country was taking the necessary measures to reopen the highway as soon as possible, taking into consideration safety issues. During the meeting, the two officials discussed economic and trade cooperation, in addition to the situation in the region, Petra reported.
